Commissioner Beasley raised concerns about the ongoing homicide investigation at 12th and M Street involving Tymark Wells. He stressed the importance of community assistance and offered to circulate a flyer with information on how to submit anonymous tips.

One burglary was reported, which is lower than typical winter levels. No robberies were reported. Motor vehicle thefts continue to occur sporadically. Community Concerns

Residents reported aggressive panhandling outside Streets Market at 1221 Massachusetts Avenue. Lieutenant Sakulich stated that she would refer the matter to the appropriate outreach and service providers.

Community members also discussed encounters with individuals experiencing mental health crises. MPD advised residents to call 911 so trained responders can assess the situation and coordinate services as needed.

Brian Romanowski provided updates from the Ward 2 Council office. He acknowledged challenges during the recent snowstorm and noted the need for improved communication and more timely updates. Residents were reminded that property owners are responsible for clearing sidewalks, and unshoveled areas should be reported.

DPW continues to address missed trash collections, though some confusion remains about the reporting process.

He also noted that the House passed a resolution to decouple the District's tax code from federal changes. The measure is expected to have financial implications for residents.

Upcoming in-person office hours will provide residents an opportunity to raise concerns directly with the Council office.
